Service club speaker for Douglas Aircraft corporation, recounting the progress of the builder, said nothing stopped him. He forgot the CIO. They didn't exactly stop him, they sat down on him.

Well, Los Angeles wants to hog everything. Wouldn't even let us in on the last earthquake.

I will always be just five cents from being broke. Chet Warren, manager of the Bank of America, impudently by a normal generous spirit, gives me one of those nickels from the mint coined in honor of the sage of Monticello. I understand the gift was a suggestion on the part of another member of the family who thought more of me than Chet does. Anyway, I am the possessor of one of those Thomas Jefferson coins, which has been turned over to the custodian of the domestic safety deposit box. I would have been much better off if I had entrusted all of my coins to her safekeeping. Thanks, Chet, when I see Jefferson I'll speak the good word for you that John Adams forgot to say for Jefferson.

It was during the flush days of prosperity, when money was as easy to get as fleas in a Florida swamp. Two dollar wheat and dollar corn. Farmers bought everything and traveling salesmen weren't of the Joe Blup persuasion. The old rag carpet was thrown out the front door and a Brussels rug took its place. Everything moved up aristocratically in order. Money for everything, which recalls a story by a friend of an incident in a midwest Indiana reservation. On pay day the boys from the city moved out to where the money was. Offered everything—sold everything. One day the mortician drove out with a hearse. An Indian bought it. The purchase power has depreciated considerably since those days.

Electricians are stringing wires for the ornamentation of the light standards. It's an annual holiday custom. Won't be long now before you will hear the Christmas carols, "Silent Night," and other Yuletide messages to remind you of the story coming out of Bethlehem of Judea, the inspiration for the Christmas observance. It not only puts joy into the world, but enforces a pause for meditation of an event which Christianity has been solemnly commemorating for almost 2000 years.

You can't stop it but you can do something about it. Those shopping days are steadily disappearing. Better buy early and not only avoid the rush, but get choice of Christmas merchandise.

Anaheim Minister Arrested

The Rev. Harvey McGehee, 36-year-old pastor of the Anaheim Church of Christ and vice president of the Anaheim Ministerial Association, was in the county jail today on two felony charges assertedly having confessed to moral offenses against three young boys of his congregation.

Arrested last night and subdued after a hard struggle with police, the minister reportedly signed a full confession this morning. He faces a maximum of 30 years in the penitentiary.

HARD STRUGGLE

The clergyman was arrested last night by Police Chief James Bouldin of Anaheim, Assistant Probation Officer Carl Warner and Deputy Dist. Atty. Warren.

Schutz as he returned to his apartment at 149 North Lemon street. Chief Bouldin said the prisoner was subdued after a hard struggle with officers; and he was booked in the county all at 9:45 p. m. under $5000 bail.

Preliminary hearing into the charges involving a series of alleged offenses against minor boys, was set for Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock when the minister was arraigned today before City Judge Frank Tausch.

PICTURE STARTS ACTION
The dark, husky minister had been in the Anaheim church for the past 18 months, having come here from his home state of Arkansas.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Schutz, who signed the two-count complaint against the minister last night after hearing the stories of the young boys, said the alleged crimes first came to light when an 18-year-old youth, who had associated with the minister, observed in McGehee's apartment a picture of the clergyman and a younger boy about 14.

Shocked by the realization that perhaps the younger child was being mistreated, Schutz said, the 18-year-old boy told his mother. Together they conferred with officials in Anaheim and told their story to the deputy district attorney.

CHARGE FIRST DENIED

Schutz said he talked with the first boy, then contacted another youth, 17 years old, who also assertedly admitted the minister had had improper relations with him. The prisoner, police said, protested vigorously last night, claiming he had been "framed" and bearing police and other officials. This morning, confronted by the three boys, 18, 17, and 16 years of age, Schutz said McGehee signed a confession after questioning in the district attorney's office. He appeared quiet as he was led, handcuffed, back to his county jail cell to await the arraignment before Judge Tausch.

The boys, Schutz said, declared McGehee had been having relations with them since last February. Should he be convicted on the two counts charged in the complaint, the clergyman faces penitentiary terms of from one to 15 years on each count, since each involves a separate offense with a different boy.

GIRL KIDNAPED NEAR CAPITAL

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Police and residents of nearby Maryland conducted an intensive search today for 18-year-old Mary Brown, reported by her sister to have been abducted by two roughly dressed young men.

The sister, Lucy, 15, said Mary was seized and thrown into the rear of a small delivery truck on a lonely road near their home at suburban Oxon Hill, D. C. Lucy said she herself broke away from the men, leaped into underbrush by the roadside, and crawled under a fence and ran screaming across a snow-covered field to her home. She sobbed her story over the telephone to police. Her mother, Mrs. William B. Brown, was absent.

AUTO ACCIDENT BASIS OF SUIT

Two principals in a Los Angeles county auto accident last Feb. 27, both residents of Los Angeles county, came into Orange county superior court today to determine who was to blame.

On stipulation of attorneys, Superior Judge Raymond McIntosh of Sierra county, sitting in court here, agreed to hear the suit, brought by E. A. Downey of Los Angeles against Albert R. Rideout, Jr., owner of the other car, and Clyde MacKenzie, its driver.

Downey asks $15,646.50 for injuries in the accident, which occurred Feb. 27 three miles south of Downey toward Long Beach.

Robbery Suspect Returned Here

Wanted for a San Clemente cafe robbery two months ago, Fred Rodenbaugh, 25, Los Angeles truck driver, was returned here from Sonora last night by Harold Boice, San Clemente police officer, and Deputy Sheriff Vern Mohn.

Bail was set at $10,000 by City Judge Fred Warner. Rodenbaugh is serving a 10-month jail sentence in Sonora, and will be returned there after trial here on the robbery charge.

Citrus Denied Rate Cut

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Railroads rejected today a plea from Secretary Wallace for an emergency reduction in citrus freight rates, explaining the financial condition of rail lines was the most critical in their history.

A. F. Cleveland, vice-president of the Association of American Railroads, told the secretary in a letter existing rates on citrus fruits were much lower than the maximum authorized by the interstate commerce commission.

BIG YIELD FORECAST

He said the association's traffic advisory committee had been informed by the agriculture department the season's record crop of oranges and grapefruit was no larger than the normal production which could be anticipated in years to come.

The secretary, Cleveland said, overestimated the increase in shipments that would result from a freight rate reduction.

Writing as the representative of the advisory committee, a group of chief traffic officers and other rail representatives, Cleveland said citrus rate reductions would cause similar requests from producers of many other commodities. To cut the citrus rates without cutting others, he said, would constitute in reality "a tax upon other traffic."

RETURNS CUT

He said a large part of the crop this year would be purchased by the federal surplus commodities corporation for relief distribution. Moved from the returns, bills of lading, this fruit would be entitled to rate reductions over "land grant" roads, he said, thus trimming the returns to carriers.

Cleveland said the rejection represented the unanimous decision of a committee meeting of the committee and chief rail representatives. "The situation of the railroads generally at the present time," he declared, "is the most critical that has existed in the history of their operation. There are more re-evaluations and trustings at present than have ever previously existed during the life of the railroads."

CASE MAY BE FILED

"Many roads are not earning their fixed charges, still others are not making their operating expenses and for many years comparatively few of the companies have been able to pay any dividends to their stockholders."

Two years ago, the association turned down a similar request from the grapefruit industry. The 1938 farm trust authorized the secretary of agriculture to institute proceedings with the interstate commerce commission to force down freight rates on agricultural commodities. There was no indication today whether he expected to file a citrus case.

Bodies Scattered Along Utah Rails

Sobs and Shrieking Blinding Storm Is Blamed

Reporter Describes Scene of Utah Tragedy; Parents Hunt Bodies

(Editor's Note: Gordon W. Kirby, Salt Lake Telegram reporter, described for the Associated Press the scene at the train-school bus crash south of Salt Lake City.)

By GORDON W. KIRBY

SALT LAKE CITY. (AP)—Dozens of stunned and grief-stricken parents and relatives paraded the length of the train, lifting blankets and coats and papers from the bodies of the dead strewn about—hoping to find their children.

Sobs and shrieking and crying of all these people could be heard in their automobiles after discovering their mangled children.

Volunteer parties walked up and down the track to pick up the torn remains scattered about.

Many of the bodies were mangled past recognition. They were along the tracks, the whole length of the train, where hands and other parts of bodies were strewn. People walked up and down, putting parts of bodies into bushel baskets.

The front of the locomotive was evidence of the force of the impact, with the school bus still hanging to it after dragging the truck parts more than half a mile.

'Awfullest Thing' 'One by One They Stopped Screaming' Says Man Who Was Riding Freight

SALT LAKE CITY. (AP)—A young Denver man who had picked up a ride on the fast freight train that crashed into a heavily loaded school bus south of here today described the accident to Sheriff S. Grant Young as the "awfullest thing I ever saw."

Sheriff Young said the man gave his name as David Witter, 22, and that he was riding on an oil tank close to the engine. "It was snowing pretty hard," said Witter.

"All of a sudden I felt a terrific bump. . . . Finally the train pulled to a stop."

"I go off. It was the awfullest thing I ever saw. It looked like a bunch of cattle."

"One little girl was standing there screaming, holding for dear life to a little pocketbook. . . . None of them seemed to die right away."

"One by one they would stop screaming. . . . One boy had virtually all of his clothes stripped off him."

"For hundreds of feet down the railroad tracks shoes, clothes, handkerchiefs, even socks, were scattered."

Talbert Meat Co. Operator Has Another Worry

Joe Betschart, operator of the Talbert Meat company, reported today that injunction suits by the attorney-general are only part of his troubles.

Sheriff's deputies were asked to keep a lookout for a 400-pound white sow, recent mother of a litter of pigs, which he said was stolen from First street and Harbor boulevard on Thanksgiving.

Betschart is preparing to fight in superior court an injunction suit brought to restrain him from slaughtering animals without a state slaughtering permit.

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Suit for $12,000 damages over injuries suffered in an impromptu football game during a regular gymnasium school period, was filed in superior court today by Kenneth L. Hartman, 16, against Glendale unified school district.

In the complaint, the youth charged he suffered a leg fracture and other injuries on Dec. 2, 1937, because he was permitted to play without proper protective gridiron gear.

Another Desert Wind Forecast

Another desert wind was predicted today. Agricultural Commissioner D. W. Tubbs said he had received a warning from the U. LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Star Pat O'Brien today filed an answer in superior court to Actor Pat O'Brien's $300,000 damage suit. Plaintiff O'Brien alleges Defendant O'Brien and others, including Warner Bros. studio, tried to prevent him from obtaining work as an actor due to the similarity of their names.

Bodies Scattered Along Utah Rails

SALT LAKE CITY. (AP)—A speeding freight train crashed into a school bus in a snowstorm near here today, killing possibly 26 persons and critically injuring 12 others.

An official list issued at Salt Lake county hospital accounted 21 dead. Authorities at the crash scene said the bodies of "at least five" were in bushel baskets at the rural grade crossing, 10 miles south of here.

Nine students, less seriously injured, were released following hospital examination. Identification of the victims proceeded slowly since all were badly mangled.

The bodies were spewed along the right of way of the Denver and Rio Grande Western railroad tracks.

All victims, except F. H. Silcox, the bus driver, were students at Jordan High school. Their ages ranged from 12 to 18 years.

HOSPITAL IN CHAOS
The accident occurred when the 82-car freight, traveling a speed estimated by Salt Lake County Sheriff S. Grant Young at "60 miles an hour," ploughed into the loaded bus at a rural grade crossing.

Salt Lake General hospital was in chaos as crying fathers and mothers sought to locate their children. An entire floor of the hospital was filled with victims.

All bodies were taken to the hospital. Twelve students are in a critical shape, hospital authorities said. Railroad company officials announced that 25 students and the bus driver, F. H. Silcox, had been killed.

TO GO ON BUS
Mrs. Sarah Bergstrom, business superintendent of the Salt Lake General hospital, said she personally aided in the recovery of 13 bodies.

Estimates of the number of persons on the bus ranged from 40 to 60. The accident occurred at 8:56 a. m. M. S. T. at a rural crossing about 10 miles south of here. The bus was bound for the Jordan High school, and the ages of the victims ranged from 12 to 16 years.

SLEET OBSCURES VIEW
A sleet storm had reduced visibility and had delayed the schedule of the Denver and Rio Grande Western freight, "The Flying Ute."

Sheriff S. Grant Young said that the engineer, E. L. Reahmer, told him he was on the right side of the cab and that the bus was coming from the left. His fireman screamed for him to stop, he said.

Young said the freight normally is going about 60 miles an hour at the crossing. The sheriff said (Continued on Page 2, Col. 8)

PROBERS CALL SEN. SWING

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—District Attorney Otis D. Babcock today announced a subpoena had been issued for Santa Senator Ralph Swing, San Bernardino, to appear before the grand jury Dec. 15 in connection with an investigation of a $50,000 payment the National Orange Show allegedly made to Arthur H. Samish, San Francisco lobbyist, at the start of the last session of the legislature.

Babcock said the grand jury continuing its investigation of reports of legislative corruption desires to find out if there were any connections between Samish, the legislature and the San Bernardino exhibit.

In addition to Swing, Babcock said, he would call before the grand jury, Arthur Brown, San Bernardino newspaper editor and a member of the state personnel board; W. C. Shay, president of the National Orange Show; George C. Brown, who Babcock said he understood was a director of the show; the manager of the San Bernardino branch, Bank of America, and the manager of the Anglo California National bank of San Francisco.

10,000 U. S. Plants to Be Given Schedules for Munitions

PREPARATIONS FOR NEXT WAR STREAMLINED

WASHINGTON. (AP)—The army gave orders today to streamline preparations for production of munitions. Louis Johnson, assistant secretary of war, told more than 200 army procurement specialists that in the event of war the high command did not "want the experience of 1917-18 repeated."

Designs for arms and supplies must be simplified and arrangements speeded for mass production, he advised, both to meet any war emergency and to cope with increased orders resulting from President Roosevelt's proposals to reinforce national defenses.

"We hope congress will give us a sufficient stock of munitions to tide us over until industry is ready," Johnson said.

The assistant secretary, one of the President's principal advisers on the prospective rearmament program, summoned the army officers to the first national conference of the kind.

The war department has been making industrial mobilization plans since passage of the 1920 national defense act, but previous sessions of officers detailed to work with industrial plants have been on a regional basis.

"We have selected 10,000 plants to which we have given definite war schedules of production," Johnson said in discussing preparations for any future war; but numerous production "bottlenecks" must be broken, he added.

"There are still more than 25 per cent of our items, many of them vital to our cause, for which specifications and drawings have not been completed," he said.

Of 7300 articles of production processes figuring in war department plans, he said 55 critical items were "so difficult of production, so different from ordinary peacetime needs that industry will not be able to produce them in mass without some education."

Congress provided $2,000,000 this year for "educational orders" for five of the 55 critical items. Johnson said funds would be asked at the next session to train industry to turn out the remaining 69.

Urging simplifications of military machines and weapons, the assistant secretary, apparently referring to Germany, told the officers that "in a certain foreign country" designers "strip all non-essentials from their important items of war equipment."

He said in the single-seater fighter airplane of that country, the self-starter has been left out, radio equipment has been made readily removable to make way for extra ammunition, and the cockpit has been reduced in size to accommodate only small men.

MONOPOLY PROBE OPENS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Isador Lubin, commissioner of labor statistics, opened the long-heralded monopoly inquiry today with testimony that the slowing down of the national economic machine during the depression had cost more than $132,000,000,000 in national income to the present time.

Lubin appeared as the first witness before the legislative-executive committee, members of which have spent many months in preparatory surveys of the national economy, how it works, how it is constructed and why it has broken down, as in the depression.

The syndicate, which includes Joseph M. Schenck, Darryl Zanuck, Jay Paley, Al Johnson and Constance Bennett, proposed to spend $75,000 on the property and erect a clubhouse.

Construction of a $1,000,000 resort to replace the one destroyed by a brush fire last week was announced shortly after the fire.

House in Cypress Disappearing Piece by Piece

It's sort of tough to try to sell a house that's disappearing, piece by piece, the sheriff's office was told yesterday. Deputies were asked to check on disappearance of doors, window sashes and other parts of a house at 220 North Walker street, Cypress. The Deebie-Chapman company, Long Beach, said a deal had been started for sale of the house, but that it fell through when the prospective purchasers found the house was disintegrating.

MARTIN TELLS ALIEN PLOTS AMONG UNIONS

(Continued From Page 1) labor movement in the United States, through both the CIO and the American Federation of Labor. He added, however, that the number of Communists at work in this direction had been "over-emphasized."

"Like the Nazis and the Fascists," he said, "the Communists are seeking control of labor organizations by getting into positions of leadership, by getting elected to office and by causing unions to adopt policies by means of As to Ungarelli, Martin testified that merchants who obtained supplies from Italy were told they would be cut off from their sources if they did not accept the vice-consul's demands.

The witness said the vice consul had come to Detroit in 1934 from Brazil, having been brought "because of his effective methods in forcing Italians living in Brazil to become willing and pliable agents of the Italian Fascist government."

Martin said protests against Ungarelli finally were made to the state department and the latter made representations to the Italian government resulting in Ungarelli's recall.

The committee has received testimony from numerous witnesses that Communists occupy key positions in the U. M. W. One of the men who linked the CIO with Communism was John P. Frey, president of the metal trades department of the American Federation of Labor. Frey said a few feet from Martin while the latter testified.

The witness told the committee there undoubtedly "has been a definite revival of Fascist activities within the last few months, including interference with the election campaign in Wayne county." Detroit is in that county.

Martin quoted two Italians running for office on the Republican tickets as saying:

"When nationalities inferior to ours, like the Polish, Irish and Jewish, have absolute control of the political situation in Detroit, some degenerate, ignorant Italian sons, for the price of treachery, are using the right of speech to sell, like Judas Iscariot, the dignity and honor of our race."

"We, the avengers of our rights and our history, give warning so that you may not be deceived by those miserably-sold worms."

Police, Fireman Held as Looters

SANTA MONICA. (AP)—Three members of the Santa Monica police force and one fireman were taken into custody today on charges of looting homes during the recent fire in the mountains.

Those in custody are Police Sergeant Kenneth Hubbard, Traffic Officer Fred Zeisler, Charles Powers, police department sign painter and a nephew of Chief Dice, and Fireman Carl C. Coons.

SEIZURE OF TICKETS TOLD HOWARD JURY Los Angeles, (AP)—Seizure of $32,000 worth of Mexican lottery tickets by customs officers was described today in Los Angeles, as trial of Police Chief Floyd Howard of Santa Ana and seven other defendants entered its third day in federal district court.

Lee LaBelle, customs inspector at Houston, Tex., testified he seized $17,500 worth of tickets in the automobile of Frank Thayer, indicted with Howard and the others but now listed as a fugitive from justice, near the Texas border.

C. C. Creighton, superintendent of customs at El Paso, Tex., testified he found $14,500 worth of tickets in Thayer's home at El Paso three days after the LaBelle seizure.

The eight men, including Howard, Ernest Winbigler, Santa Ana; C. W. Hutchings of Balboa and Henry W. McKague of Santa Ana, former federal prohibition agent, are accused of conspiring to smuggle into the United States tickets in a $3,000,000 Mexican lottery based on the 1936 Christmas day handicap at Santa Anita race track.

The defendants contend they were "suckers," advancing $23,000 to finance the enterprise in the belief the tickets would be sold only in Mexico, where they were printed and where lotteries are legal.

Prosecutors contend the defendants had knowledge of the whole plan, and yesterday called Curt Henderson, Santa Ana named as a co-conspirator but not a defendant, to identify 25 letters and telegrams to various defendants in the hope of proving they knew the tickets were to be imported into this country.

"Between us," Henderson said, "we spent about $10,000 in having a good time—but I didn't do very much spending."

He said he helped organize the lottery with Thayer.

"We kept asking these men for money, in the hope of getting the necessary permits from the Mexican government," he said, "and we had a joint bank account."

"I knew that Thayer was going around to night clubs all the time, and the first thing I heard was that the money was about all spent, and then we began to get dirty letters from those men who were investing with us."

The government expected to rest its case late today.

As the defense opened its case, Ernest N. Winbigler, Santa Ana, took the stand and testified the sweepstakes venture was represented to him as a strictly Mexican enterprise. He testified that as soon as he, Chief Howard and another defendant, C. W. Hutchings of Balboa, learned that tickets had been brought into the United States they withdrew from all participation in the venture.

Before learning this, each of the three telegraphed $1000 to Thayer in Mexico, City, Winbigler said.

He testified Curt Henderson, another defendant not now on trial, represented to him that Thayer was a former paymaster for the late Pancho Villa and "a man of wide influence in Mexico, able to get any kind of concessions from the government."

Winbigler said the sweepstakes enterprise was to have been only one unit of a promotion program arranged for and directed by Thayer which would have included general sports events, symphony concerts, an automobile race from New York to Mexico City and grand opera.

POSTMASTER GIVES ADVICE ON MAILING

Cooperation of the public in the smooth handling of a record-volume of Christmas mail was asked today by Postmaster Frank Harwood.

To save time and delay, here's some suggestions issued by Harwood today:

1. Be sure to prepay postage fully on all mail matter.

2. Make address on packages as complete and plain as possible. Place sender's return card in upper left corner of address side. Tags should not be used unless necessary. If so, a copy of the address and return card should be placed inside the parcel for identification in case tag is lost.

3. Pack articles carefully in strong, durable containers. Wrap parcels securely. But do not seal them except when bearing a printed label reading: "Contents, merchandise—postmaster: this parcel may be opened for postal inspection if necessary." Sealed parcels not so labeled or endorsed are subject to postage at the first-class rate.

4. Do not enclose letters or messages with parcels, as doing so would subject entire parcel to first-class rate. However, parcels may be marked such as: "Do not open until Christmas," "Merry Christmas," or "Happy New Year."

5. Christmas seals or stickers should not be placed on the address side of the mail.

6. It is a wise practice to insure all parcels, the fee for which is nominal.

BOWRON WINS COUNCIL TILT

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Mayor Fletcher Bowron, demanding a drastic cut in city expenditures for the remainder of the fiscal year, held a victory today in his first clash with the city council.

The council named a special committee to meet with the mayor, city budget director, controller and financial advisors, to discuss plans for economies aggregating $2,000,000, to help build up the city's reserve, which he placed at a level of only $1100.

His announcement that he had withheld his signature from two civic appropriations—$2500 to the Northern Baptist convention in June and $1000 to the Pasadena Tournament of Roses Jan. 2—brought the tart comment from Councilman B. B. Brainard that:

The mayor urged immediate consideration of reductions in the budget for the fiscal year beginning next July 1, including elimination of unessential functions.

Los Angeles Policemen Are Going to Be Policemen, and That's All, From Now on LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Junking of the "anti-red squad" and transfer of approximately 200 officers today marked the second major shakeup of the Los Angeles police department by the new chief, David A. Davidson.

Acting Capt. William F. Hynes, who for years had directed the "red squad" in a drive against radicals and asserted subversive groups, was returned to the ranks and assigned to the West Los Angeles detective bureau.

Chief Davidson dispersed "red" squadmen to undermanned stations, cut the personnel of the 100-man metropolitan division, which handles movie premieres, in half, and announced:

"We intend to have every member of this department doing what he is getting paid for by the taxpayers—police work."

Across-Continent Flight in 676-Pound Plane Declared Cheaper Than Trip in Auto NEW YORK. (AP)—Young Johnny Jones, vaudeville dancer turned non-stop flier, estimated today that his transcontinental airplane flight was less expensive than a cross-country trip in a popular priced automobile.

Gasoline and oil for his tiny scooter plane—only a third as large as Doug Corrigan's ship and the lightest airplane made—cost only $24.75 or less than a cent a mile for the 2755 mile flight, he said in a radio interview last night.

The 676-pound plane, which normally carries 12 gallons of gasoline, was loaded with 146 gallons of fuel, most of it in two extra tanks, and its total load was nearly twice its own weight.

At the end of the non-stop flight of 30 hours and 37 minutes from Los Angeles to Roosevelt field, setting a new distance record for light planes, Jones said he still had gasoline enough for four hours in the air.

YULE PROGRAM FOR SATURDAY OPENING SET A gala celebration hailing the opening of the Christmas season will attract thousands of shoppers to downtown Santa Ana Saturday. Streets in the downtown business district will be roped-off Saturday evening for the opening celebration, during which a special musical program will be broadcast from loud speakers on the First National Bank building.

A brilliantly illuminated Christmas float will pass through the business district, with a live Santa Claus distributing free candy and gifts to children.

After the musical program, stores will remain open until 10 p. m. as a special convenience to shoppers.

Saturday is the day that Santa Ana takes on the first appearance of Christmas. On each light standard in about 17 blocks of the downtown business area there will be placed two 12-foot silver fir trees, each brilliantly decorated.

The trees will remain until New Year's day, although the shopping season officially ends December 24.

As in preceding years, a daily program of music will be broadcast over the loud speaker system. During the day recordings will be played, with "live" talent scheduled for the evenings.

Saturday night's opening program will begin at 7 p. m. with a dramatic darkening of all streets and stores for the first number, which will be "Joy to the World," sung by the Federal Music Project chorus.

As the final strains of the song die out, all lights of the city will flash one, signifying the formal opening of the Christmas season.

Leon Eckles, director of the Federal Music Project symphony orchestra, is general chairman of the musical programs this year, and has invited each service club and organization of the city to sponsor a program, as well as the two junior high schools, high school and junior college.

26 KILLED AS FREIGHT TRAIN CRASHES BUS

Margie Groves, 16-year-old junior student from South Jordan, described the crash:

"I got on the bus at 8:30 about two miles from the crossing. I think there must have been about 40 others in the bus with me."

"When we came to the crossing, we stopped and Mr. Silcox, the bus driver, started up again. I was sitting in the very back in the center but I couldn't see much because of the snow."

"I thought I heard someone yell 'train!' and then I saw something black come from the right and then it hit us."

"When I woke up I was lying in the snow near the bus. Two students I knew, Mack Bateman and Mabel Smith, were nearby. Mabel was lying near the bus and Mack was lying by a fence. I guess they're all right now."

DEAD LISTED "There was an awful lot of screaming and moaning. They were all just kids—15 to 18 years of age."

"And then they came and brought me to the hospital." The hospital gave the following list of identified dead:

H. H. Jarrett, chairman of the association's board, said a bill to this effect would be introduced in the next state legislature. It will be patterned after a law now in force in Nevada.

King Carol, Now Dictator, Orders Purge of Terrorists, Fascists

POLICE TOLD 'SHOOT FIRST, TALK LATER'

BUCHAREST. (AP)—With King Carol emerging firmly as a strong man ruler, Romania ordered a purge of terrorists today to obliterate forever the Fascist-patterned iron guard.

The country was calm but police acted lest there be any outbreak as the aftermath to the deaths of Corneliu Zelea Codreanu, chief of the illegal guard, and 13 of his followers.

They were shot, authorities said, when they tried to escape from a prison guard detail.

Orders to police were to shoot ruthlessly anyone caught at crime or violence. "Talk later" was the effect of the instructions.

The police were told it would be "superfluous" to try to prevent crime with oral commands. There had been reports that past several days that the guard's councils marked several prominent government leaders for death.

Authorities, taking precautionary steps, were confident, however, that Codreanu's death would bring an end to iron guard assassinations and revolutionary conspiracy.

His movement was described as a "one - fuhrer" organization which he had managed to direct even while in prison. He was serving a sentence for treason.

Officials believed he would have no successor or that what was left of the guard would disintegrate of squabbles over leadership.

There appeared to be a feeling of relief throughout the nation. King Carol was emerging from the excitement in a strengthened position and he and his premier, Dr. Miron Cristea, were applauded.

Cluj newspapers demanded that the death penalty be imposed for assaults of Floru Stefanescu Goanga, rector of the University of Cluj, who was shot and seriously wounded Monday.

The attack on the rector was said to be part of an iron guard conspiracy for rebellion.

GIRL ADMITS SLASHING HOAX

LONDON. (AP)—Police, seeking to quell the rising hysteria caused by the epidemic of reported razor slashings in various parts of England, warned today that it was a criminal offense to report imaginary attacks.

The warning came after a 14-year-old school girl admitted that her story of a razor attack in a Manchester suburb was a hoax and confessed her injury was accidental.

She was arrested, on a charge of causing public mischief, a few hours after she had told her story.

Meanwhile, an additional slashing at Halifax brought that town's total reported attacks to 14 since the razor blade mania started his reign of terror there nine days ago.

British Actress Flees From War Scares of Europe

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Going through two wars was enough for Miss Auriel Lee, English actress and stage director. Now she's fled from panicky Europe to seek American citizenship.

"The hysteria that swept London and other capitals during the German-Czechoslovak crisis was not overemphasized. I had just directed and opened 'Borrowed Time,' played a week to capacity houses, when terror closed down everything," she said.

"Hospitals were told to expect 80,000 dead a week, 250,000 wounded. It was too much. We stopped the play and I'm literally running away."

200 WALNUT GROWERS GET CROP PAYMENT

A bundle of Christmas joy dropped into the laps of 200 Orange county walnut growers today.

It was a payment of $18,281.84 on 65 per cent of this season's walnut crop shipped by the Santa Ana Walnut Growers association.

The members of the association, representing a total acreage of 1000 in the county, produced one of the lightest crops in years, according to a report today by Manager Art Confer. The association shipped 320 tons of walnuts.

Members of the association had already received an advance payment of three cents per pound, totaling $12,000, to cover immediate expenses. This money was paid to growers as they brought their walnuts to the plant.

Although the production was about the lightest on record, the total returns were somewhat larger than last year as the price was about 1 1/2 cents higher per pound, according to Confer.

Growers will receive still more money on this year's crop, as the current payment represents only about 65 per cent of the total shipped. The remainder will be paid later, together with payment on culls.

SMALL BOATS TO BE EXEMPT FROM TREATY

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Legal experts at the state department passed along the word today that skippers of small boats need not be alarmed about requirements of the new international labor treaty.

The treaty provides, among other things for a specified size of crew and eight-hour working days on vessels operating outside inland waterways on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. New England fishermen and other seamen have protested that the requirements were impossible and might take away their livelihood.

At the state department, however, officials said small craft would not be affected if congress passes exemptive legislation permitted under the treaty.

In the first place, they explained, the international agreement is not effective until October 29, 1939. In the second place, a basic clause allows any participating government to make exceptions and exemptions for vessels of less than 200 gross registered tonnage.

The commerce department now is preparing suggestions for this exempting legislation.

Club Federation Asks World Peace

RIVERSIDE. (AP)—A two-day meeting of executives of the California Federation of Women's clubs was ended today on a note of world peace.

The group, headed by Mrs. Duncan Stewart Robinson of Rio Vista, adopted a resolution addressed to Governor-elect Culbert L. Olson, U. S. Senator Hiram Johnson and Senator-elect Sheridan Downey, urging their support of efforts to preserve peace.

"Railways, highways, waterways, airways," but the railways are the only ways which pay their own ways, according to the American Railway Association, which is something to think about, but like Mark Twain's weather, no one is doing anything about it.

ORANGE YOUTH ON STAND IN CALHOUN TRIAL

Lawson Gist, Orange youth serving time in San Quentin prison for kidnaping, robbery and grand theft, took the stand today as a defense witness in the murder trial of Charley Calhoun, 28-year-old ex-convict from Oklahoma.

Gist's testimony, produced by Defense Counsel N. D. Meyer, was limited by Superior Judge James L. Allen to what he observed of Calhoun's actions when they were prisoners together in the county jail.

Meyer was unsuccessful in an attempt to show by Gist's testimony that Calhoun talked continually to him of injustices he and his women relatives had suffered at the hands of Clyde Dillinger, 30-year-old kinsman of the late gangster, John Dillinger, of whose murder in Midway City last June 26 Calhoun is accused.

Judge Allen, after dismissing the jury of five men and seven women to hear Meyer's offer of proof, sustained an objection by Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner, barring Gist's testimony about what Calhoun told him in the jail after the slaying.

Deputy sheriffs and jailers were called to the stand yesterday to testify concerning the three "fits" which Calhoun has thrown since his arrest, all of them necessitating restraining straps and treatment in the county hospital.

Buck Jones Gets His Wish, Straight Dramatic Role

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—In nearly 20 years as the star of more than 150 western movies, Buck Jones became wealthy, famous—and discontented.

What he always wanted, Jones said, was to lay aside his six-shooters and his lariats and take a straight dramatic part.

He had his wish today. In "Me and My Gal," Jones is playing in a story of the prizefight ring with nary a hard-riding cowboy in sight.

CHURCH UNION PLAN URGED

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) Meeting in utmost harmony today the three branches of Methodism considered problems of unification. More than 1500 Methodists dined with bishops and leaders of the Methodist Episcopal church, Methodist Episcopal church, south and the Methodist protestant church.

Speakers from all divisions visualized "a wider fellowship," "a new church" and a "song of victory" with our Methodist brethren of the other branches.

The three churches will meet next spring in Kansas City, Mo., in a unification conference which leaders believe will join the sections in one church.

BOTH WRONG IN NOTE DISPUTE, COURT DECIDES

Charles S. Kelley, Santa Ana druggist, today had won cancellation of a $1675 note given the First National bank, but may not recover $939.81 already paid on it.

This was the finding of Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, who filed a decision holding both the bank and Kelley were wrong in concealing existence of the note from the Home Owners Loan Corporation in 1934.

Kelley and his wife, Mrs. Louise Kelley, owed the bank $3900 plus interest on a mortgage in 1934. They prepared to ask refinancing from the HOLC, evidence in the case showed, but the government agency would not approve a loan for more than $3000. The bank, according to the Kelleys, agreed to take an unsecured note for $1675, thereby reducing the indebtedness to a point where HOLC would grant the refinancing.

Their action in agreeing not to notify HOLC of the supplemental note, Judge Scovel held, made the agreement void. He gave judgment canceling the note and prohibiting the bank from attempting to collect further sums on it, but declined to give the Kelleys judgment for $939.81 principal and $110.19 interest which they already had paid before filing suit last March to cancel the note. The Kelleys were awarded their court costs.

I Just Found Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

School teachers aren't supposed to be business men; their job is dispensing knowledge. But it takes a full-fledged business man to keep Santa Ana's far-flung system of schools in operation nine months out of the year.

Public education is a bigger job than merely hiring teachers, buying books, or providing classrooms in which to study. Work in the classroom naturally is based upon the study of general principles in the various fields; but the business side of running a school system demands a very down-to-earth, dollars-and-cents policy.

Auditor Harold Yost has one of the jobs of handling the business side of Santa Ana's dozen elementary schools, two junior high schools, one senior high school, and one junior college.

He must prepare the annual school budget; audit and approve all expenditures; audit and approve all payrolls; purchase all instructional supplies; supervise cafeteria purchases and expenditures; approve printed reports; supervise student body funds; and so on . . . and on . . . and on . . . Yost is the "dollars and cents" man of the system.

Purchasing of supplies is a whopper of a job in itself. Here is why: Supplies purchased for the school system during 1937-38 totaled $40,252.90—and that spells responsibility in any language.

That means Yost must purchase all the erasers, chalk, pencils and paper, or even paper clips used in instruction. He must keep on hand all essentials for laboratory work.

This should give you some idea of the job: To keep all the schools in operation, a stock of general supplies totaling between $10,000 and $15,000 in value must be kept on hand at all times at the school warehouse.

In addition, supplies must be kept on for numerous courses such as art, commerce, chemistry, home economics, physical education, music, geology, physics, industrial arts, woodworking, mechanical drawing, welding (gas and electric), metal shop, gas engine, surveying printing, and similar courses where special equipment is needed.

Besides the general supplies and special equipment for various courses, there must be kept a supply of articles for sports activity. These include basketballs, beach balls, footballs, hockey balls, playground balls, soccer balls, tennis balls, volley balls, bats, baseballs, rubber cement, back dye, lacrosse, marking lime, nets, jump ropes, and various others.

In the general supplies, there are approximately 700 different items kept in stock. If you want a better idea of what it takes to make a school run, here's only a partial summary:

Wire desk baskets, blotters, composition books, book-enders, index cards, chalk, modeling clay, garbage cans (used as clay containers), type cleaner, paper clips, cloth suspension rings, compasses, corn starch.

Ready for more? Here goes: Cotton balls, color crayons, dusters, dextrin, duplicator fluid, envelopes, six kinds of erasers, eyelets, fasteners, files, flags, folders, glue, guides, ink, labels, chart liners, manuscript covers.

Had enough? All right, read on: Memo pads, moisteners, mimeograph pads, mucilage, needles, muslin, oilcloth, oil of cloves, kalsomine, poster paint, water-colors and paper.

Making the job of bookkeeping even more complicated, there are 48 kinds and sizes of paper, one of which, construction paper, is carried in 45 colors. Many others, such as poster paper, crepe paper, tissue paper, colored mimeograph paper are carried in from 5 to 15 colors.

Other essentials in the general stock include paste, pencils (13 kinds), pencil sharpeners, pens, pointers, raffia, reed, rubber bands (it's tough on teacher when these get loose), rulers, scissors, shellac, stamps, staples, stars, stencils, tags, tape, thread, thumb tack, twine, typewriter ribbons, yardsticks and yarn.

If that doesn't satisfy you, Auditor Yost points out that the stock warehouse also contains about 100 kinds of janitor supplies which are purchased by another department.

Yost's purchases affected some 7000 students and 300 teachers in Santa Ana last year.

These 7300 persons used for instructional purposes the following: Eight thousand small blotters; 5220 composition books; 3300 small calendar pads; 65,600 index cards; 24,000 pieces of chalk; 78,000 paper clips; 54,000 colored crayons; 3700 erasers; 1211 pounds of kalsomine.

And—biggest figure of all 4-000,250 sheets of paper, including drawing, mimeograph, typing, news, pencil and ink lettercap.

Community Chest Considered by Orange Chamber of Commerce

CITY'S YULE PARTY WILL BE HELD DEC. 20

ORANGE.—Establishment of a Community Chest, to undertake the work of the various relief and social organizations here, will be considered at the next meeting of chamber of commerce directors Dec. 8.

Combining the work of the various welfare units under a Community Chest would eliminate the repetition of canvassing the town for each organization, thereby saving considerable time and expense.

The Community Chest plan, as conducted in many cities, takes charge of the entire campaign for funds, and each welfare organization receives a proportionate share of the funds, depending upon the need and purpose.

President Roy Edwards, who will preside at the first meeting of the board following reorganization, said other business to come before the directors next Tuesday includes reports on the Christmas party to be held Dec. 20, committee reports and plans for the annual meeting of the chamber of commerce in January. Date for the chamber banquet will be selected at the meeting.

HARBOR HIGH WILL PRESENT PLAY DEC. 9

NEWPORT-BALBOA.—High school students will present "Stage Door" written by George Kaufman and Edna Ferber, in the high school auditorium 8 p. m. Dec. 9.

The story deals with a group of young girls who come to New York to find jobs in the theater. Scene is Mrs. Orestis' "Footlights club," boarding house, where the girls' ambitions are revealed in series of observation and entertaining comedy.

Terry Randall, heroine, is played by Patricia Palmer, senior student who was seen last year as Gwen in "The Royal Family."

Other members of the cast include Keith Burgess, young left-wing playboy who "goes Hollywood," is played by Bill Maxwell. Robert Nimmo is David Kingsley, idealistic producer.

Much of the comedy is revealed through the characters of Judith Canfield (Jeanne Marshall), Fred Powell (Arthur Helle), Len Melhauser (Franklin Moore), and Dr. Randall (Edward Paulhamus).

Barbara Miller as Jean Maitland and Martha Berry as Kaye Hamilton contribute dramatic moments.

Other members of the cast include Helma Erickson, Lulu Bowler, Alice Winterbourne, Marion Hinkley, Margaret Thompson, Virginia Thompson, Grace Kidder, Melba Cubbins, Josie McBee, Jeanne Cabanne, Geraldine Shook, Marilyn Hostetter, Helen Reil, Bob Boyd, Jimmie Keeler, Jim Worley, William Grundy, Colin Burlingame, Alice McAdams and Loren Wentworth.

ESCAPE TO HOLLYWOOD by KATHRYN CULVER

Linda Bailey's father has been considered Centerville's wealthiest citizen but, when he dies, she learns that he has left her practically nothing. Wishing to hide this from the townfolk, she decides to drive to Hollywood and have a try at the movies. On the way, bandits rob her, but a good-looking young man, who introduces himself only as "Martin," comes to her aid. In Los Angeles, she meets Mae Baxter, another screen aspirant, who offers to share her apartment with her. Martin calls on her, says he thinks he can get her a screen test, and makes a dinner date with her. She discovers he is Martin Carstairs, movie star, and hears rumors that he may be engaged to Judith Grange, a famous player. He takes her out to dinner and makes love to her. When she returns home, Mae tells her a woman phoned to find out whether she was out with Martin. They think it must have been Judith.

"Don't get me wrong, now, Mart is a swell guy, but it's only fair to warn you that this isn't the first time you have taken a fancy to a handsome fellow. In fact, it's a falling of his. And it's caused many heartaches when the girls have realized that it doesn't mean a thing.

"Take you, for instance, Golly. Now Mart raved about you. Well, you know yourself that you're not second Garbo. And Norma Shearer isn't going to have to retire as soon as you have a screen test. See what I mean? You're a nice-looking kid, but that doesn't mean you're the type for the screen."

"You—you mean you think I shouldn't take the test?" Linda faltered.

"No—I don't mean that. We just don't want you to have any false illusions about it, that's all. Mart's influence will get you a test, but it won't get you a part unless the test shows up a lot better than I think it will."

"I—I see," said Linda, in a small voice.

HARRY GUMBAR bit his lip, and seemed to be debating something in his mind. In fact, he was slowly, "I expect Mart has given you the impression that he likes you pretty well, hasn't he?"

Linda evaded the question. "Well, anyway, I think I ought to tell you something. It's a studio secret—but I think you ought to know."

"What—what do you mean?" "I mean that Mart is married."

"M-married?" "Sure—to Judith Grange."

Linda stared at the man. Her heart had suddenly turned to lead. "But—why is it a secret?" she faltered.

"Studio policy. The executives think that Mart's popularity with his feminine fans would be lessened if he was known to be married."

Linda was stunned. And last night, he had made love to her—kissed her! A married man!

"I just wanted you to know how things stand," Harry Gumbar continued. "Like I said, you're not the first girl that has been taken in by Mart. Oh, he doesn't carry away his heart. He just gets carried away by some new find, gets her a screen test, and gives her a rush for a few weeks. Then, it all blows over. But it's very exasperating to his wife, and naturally, it's a shock to the girl in the case when she learns the truth."

Linda rose shakily. "All right, Mr. Gumbar. You—you can call off that dog."

"Now wait a minute," he said. "Magnum isn't refusing you a test, see? It'd be as much as my job is worth to have any of this get back to Mart."

"I understand and . . . thank you. You can trust me not to say anything to Mr. Carstairs. Now . . . if you'll excuse me . . ."

SHE fled from the room and up the stairs. Halfway up, the tears came flooding.

Mae met her at the top of the stairs and put an arm about her shaking shoulders.

"Linda, kid . . . what's wrong? Martin is on the phone. He wants to know—"

"I won't speak to him!" Linda sobbed. "Tell him I never want to see him again. Tell him I don't want his old screen test—to save it for somebody else!"

She pulled away from Mae, rushed into the apartment, and flung herself down on the couch, sobbing as though her heart would break.

Mae stared at her in bewilderment, then went to the phone, curdly gave Martin her message, and unmed the receiver down on the hook.

Last night's meeting, at which the three events were discussed, was held at the home of Mrs. William Jerome, Jr., 2209 Greenleaf street. Mrs. Jerome served a dainty dessert course at launch the informal evening.

Pledges present were Miss Madeline Paxton and Miss Leila Adrian, while members present were Mrs. Van Pomeroy, Mrs. Dwight Ainsworth, Mrs. Joe Irwin, Mrs. Jerome, and the Misses Gladys Margarat, Ruth Baker, Lois Murray, Dorothy Van Deusen, Erlene Farmer, Virginia Hardin, Bettie Campbell, Bettie Timmons, and Shirley Phelps.

YOUTH IS HOST TO FRIENDS ON ANNIVERSARY

Master Jerry Eckel celebrated his seventh anniversary yesterday and also received the dog for which he has been wishing for some time, a springer spaniel, immediately named "Silver."

Mrs. Leslie Eckel, his mother, arranged a party in honor of the event, and invited 15 of the little boy's friends to share games and other amusements during the afternoon, yesterday, at the Eckel home, 1020 Freeman street.

Following an hour of games, the youngsters were marshalled into the dining room where they found their places at one big table gay with pink and green favors and balloons. Here they enjoyed birthday cake and ice cream and all the "trimmings" of one of those events.

After the refreshment hour, the young host opened his many gifts and the remainder of the afternoon was spent in the lovely yard of the home. Miss Ruth Johnson was the guest of honor.

Invited to the party were Dickie Jones, Robert Simons, Dickie McConnell, Donnie Hanson, Patsy and Jo Ann Adams, Margaret and Melvin Rez, Bruce Snyder, Glenn Bassett, Charlene Shores, Carolyn Snyder, James Steffenson, Keith Johnson, and Jerry Eckel. Assisting Mrs. Eckel in hosting yesterday's affair were Mrs. Arthur Jones of Orange and Mrs. Emory Simon of Anaheim.

MRS. TIDBALL IS GIVEN SURPRISE PARTY

The recent remodeling of the old Potts' ranch home, at 2702 North Main street by Mr. and Mrs. Glen Tidball has been of great interest to their many friends, for it was Mrs. Tidball's girlhood home, and the room that she once occupied at Miss Virginia Potts is now being used by her own daughter.

The attractive alterations were completed but a short time ago, and at that time the Tidball family moved in. To celebrate this fact, last night members of Philathia class of the First Presbyterian church of which Mrs. Tidball is president, gathered there to surprise her with a housewarming party.

Inspection of the gracious old home and pleasant conversation filled the evening for the 32 ladies present. The housewarming party was not only refreshments but a beautiful white pottery flower bowl filled with baby chrysanthemums to add to the charm of the livingroom.

Trio Joins To Give Pretty Party

Particularly effective in its motif was the pretty party given yesterday afternoon by Mrs. Arthur Blanding, Mrs. John Maret, and Mrs. Joseph Hagen, when they complimented Mrs. Ellis Drake at a layette shower.

Every appointment for the party, held in Mrs. Blanding's home at 1473 Orange avenue, was in appropriate pink or blue. Beautiful pink rosebuds decorated the rooms, while little booties brimming with pink sweetpeas centered the refreshment tables where pink and blue ices and cakes were served. Nutcrackers were miniature baby carriages in the same dainty shades.

As guests arrived they were handed little pink and blue favors on which they were instructed to write messages for Mrs. Drake. Later, two lovely door prizes were given out to Miss Ruby Welch and Mrs. Harold Bracewell. At the same time, tiny two-year-old Donna Jean Blanding appeared, pushing a baby buggy festooned with pink and blue, and laden with lovely gifts, which little Helen Jean Honer assisted in handing to the honoree.

Guests invited to the enjoyable affair by the three hostesses included the Mesdames Curtis Burrow, Harold Bracewell, Ray Frazier, E. L. Abernethy, Ray Walworth, John Bird, John Bird, Jr., Elwin Gammell, James Pederson, Frank Baker, A. P. Koentopp, Allison Honer, Burton Rowley, Hugh Osborn, and John Sullivan; and the Misses Gladys Thomas, Ruby Welch, Gladys Welch, Lena McGuigan, Ladora Catherman, Helen Jean Honer and the Mesdames Odessa Bell, William Bohman, Earl Wryman and Arnold Finster.

DOZEN FORMER SCHOOLMATES FORM CLUB

Promising to be a most enjoyable organization, a new club came into being last night when Miss Bernadine Helberg entertained a dozen of the young misses and matrons who had gone through school together and wish to remain in contact with one another.

You Can Always Please a Lady By Giving Her a New Perfume

Perfume, Cologne and Jewels—Gifts Close to a Woman's Heart

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Feature Service Writer

Most women are perfume collectors at heart. That's why perfume is a safe bet as a Christmas gift.

There aren't any really safe rules to follow in buying, but the woman who has a variety of perfumes always will appreciate some new scent. And the woman who has a favorite scent or group of scents will appreciate a new supply of those.

Sometimes it's a good plan to match perfume favorites with scented accessories. There are eau de colognes as well as bath powders, bath soaps, lingerie sachets and bath soaps to complement many perfumes.

Evening compacts are gifts that send a flutter to the heart—if that's the effect you're after. Don't get compacts too large, though! They must fit neatly into an evening purse.

Comb-and-brush sets, make-up kits and manicure sets are three other universally popular beauty gifts.

If you get a comb and brush set, be sure it is practical as well as decorative. The brush should have firm bristles and a handle that is easy to grasp. The comb must be sturdy enough to stand plenty of use. And the mirror should be clear and fairly large. Among the newer sets on the Christmas market are several in maple, designed for the woman whose bedroom is in that wood. More elaborate are those with crystal handles and cloisonne backs.

Sparkling Evening Vanity

Manicure sets should be equipped with a good file and a good scissors or pair of nippers.

Shoe Shine Box for Men

Compact Manicure Set

"Personal appearance" gifts also are practical for men—who seldom will buy them themselves. Suggestions: Brush sets (satinwood, ebony, teakwood or the new Thuyo wood are all durable and attractive), electric shavers, leather utility kits, lighted shaving mirrors, the racks and even shoe-shine boxes can please with polish, brushes and shoe cloths.

STUDY SECTION HAS FINE BOOK REVIEWS

Twenty-two members of the Study section of the Woman's club and friends gathered yesterday at the home of Mrs. Charles H. Stanley, 1135 West First street, for their regular monthly study period, which followed a covered dish luncheon. Guests were seated for luncheon at the large dining table centered with a shower bouquet of pink sweetpeas and baby breath while the smaller tables, dotted through the spacious living and dining rooms, were colorful with varicolored pottery.

Mrs. Charles W. Clark, leader of this section, presided over a short business session at which time vacancy in the office of secretary-treasurer, held by Mrs. Charles DeRouillac, was filled by Mrs. P. R. Arnold. Consumers problems furnished a short discussion which was followed by short sketches of several books by Mrs. James G. McCracken. The group of books chosen by Mrs. McCracken for discussion included "Benjamin Franklin—a Biography," by Carl Van Doren; "The Education of an American," by Mark Sullivan; "The Big Four," by Oscar Lewis; "Dynasty of Death," by Taylor Caldwell, and "Listen, the Wind," by Ann Lindbergh. After giving these short sketches, Mrs. McCracken reviewed in completeness the book, "Fanny Kemble," by Margaret Armstrong, augmenting her talk by pictures of the actress, taken at different stages in her career, and of the theater in New York in which she first appeared. These pictures were from the theater collection of Harvard college library.

HOW 25 WOMEN LOST UGLY FAT In Special N.Y. Test

Ask Your Doctor If It Isn't Good Way. Read Every Word

NEW YORK, N. Y.—In a test by a prominent N. Y. physician and nationally known newspaper woman, 25 women lost a total of 286 lbs. in 60 days. "YOU, too, can follow this SANE, SENSIBLE plan right at home and here it is:

First of all go light on fatty meats and sweets. Eat plentifully of lean meats, fish, fowl, fresh fruits and vegetables. And for proper functioning, take a half teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in hot water every morning. DON'T MISS A MORNING. And this is important!

Kruschen is NOT harmful. It is not just one of those people ignorantly believe. Rather it's a blend of 6 active mineral salts (formula right on box) which when dissolved in water make a healthful mineral drink similar to Famous European Spa waters where wealthy fast women have gone for years. A jar of Kruschen costs only 35 cents and makes 5 gallons of a most highly efficient mineral drink. So fat ladies—get some gumption! MAKE UP YOUR MIND YOU'LL STICK to the above Plan for 25 days—and just see if you don't lose fat and feel healthier and younger. (Note: You can get Kruschen at McCoy Drug and druggists everywhere.)

The installation is to be open to the public.

Retiring officers, Sue Henry and Forest White, made their farewell speeches during Monday's meeting, thanking their officers for the cooperation received throughout the year. At this time a reception for all new members taken into the chapter in the year were honored, and were given places of honor in the banquet hall when the refreshment hour took place.

The hall, decorated by Katherine Good, followed a Christmas theme, and Della Maud Ryan was in charge of the refreshment course.

MISS MILLAY TO READ POEMS AT CLAREMONT

Edna St. Vincent Millay, America's brilliant woman poet, will be heard in Bridges auditorium, Claremont, on Tuesday, Dec. 6, at 8:15 p. m., when she gives readings from her works.

Miss Millay has the distinction of being not only a poet who is a best-seller, but of being the only woman ever to have an opera performed at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York. Miss Millay's libretto, "The King's Henchman," for which Deems Taylor wrote the music, was sung by the Metropolitan Opera company early in the winter of 1927. To these two remarkable distinctions, marking Miss Millay as a poet of unusual genius, is added a third—Miss Millay is the only poet, with the exception of Edgar Allan Poe, whose poems have been translated into Spanish.

After Miss Millay's graduation from college in 1917, she went to New York and supported herself by writing short stories under various pseudonyms. Her first book of verse, "Renascence and Other Poems," appeared the year of her graduation from college, and she was awarded the Pulitzer prize for poetry in 1923 with "The Harp Weaver." Her latest works are "Wine from These Grapes" and "Conversations at Midnight." Miss Millay's sonnets, of all her writings, have received the highest praise, and this is the form in which she prefers to write.

Claremont colleges lecture series is presenting Miss Millay in one of her few appearances on the coast, with the dramatic intensity of each changing mood and her eager, searching spirit, the delivery of her poems is a never-to-be-forgotten experience.

Reservations for Miss Millay's lecture may be made by addressing Claremont colleges lecture series, Bridges auditorium, Claremont, or by telephone Claremont 5783. The Bridges auditorium box office will be open to the public on Tuesday, Dec. 6 from 1:15 p. m. till the time of the lecture.

CHICAGO. (AP)—The grand champion steer of the 1938 International Livestock exposition sold at auction today for $3.35 a pound, $1 a pound more than last year's champion, and the highest price since 1929.

It was purchased by the Firestone Tire & Rubber company, Akron, Ohio, with Horace Milhone, the company's farm service bureau director, doing the bidding. "Mercer" weighed approximately 1130 pounds on which basis Miss Brown realized $3785.50 from the sale. She bought the calf last January for $60.

AUCTIONEER SUES FOR $500

Suit for $500 damages was filed today in superior court on behalf of an auctioneer who claims breach of a contract whereby he would have auctioned off machine shop equipment in Huntington Beach.

Plaintiff in the case was F. Cooper, who got the claim on assignment from the auctioneer, Milton J. Wershow.

Defendant is Jesse A. Wright of Santa Ana, who assertedly agreed last Sept. 28 to permit Wershow to auction off the equipment, located at 610 Main street, Huntington Beach.

On Oct. 7, according to the complaint, Wright breached the contract. Cooper alleges the auctioneer's profit would have been $500 on an estimated sale price of $2700.

Three plans for the consumption campaign will be laid. Brown said 400,000 retailers affiliated with various chains have agreed to cut their margin of profit on citrus fruits from between 30 and 35 per cent to 10 per cent and join in the sales drive.

11 MONTHS OF '38 PASS ALL OF LAST YEAR IN LOCAL BUILDING

UPWARD, EVER UPWARD RISE MAIL RECEIPTS

Biggest gain in postal receipts in the history of the Santa Ana postoffice is being recorded this year.

Santa Ana is growing so rapidly that a recommendation may possibly be made to Washington for two additional mail routes to relieve the task of mail deliveries in every section of Santa Ana.

Postal officials are preparing for the biggest Christmas in local history.

Those highlights stood out today as Postmaster Frank Harwood completed his tabulation of figures summarizing postal receipts for the month of November and for the 11 months of 1938.

He discovered that: The gain of 1938 receipts over the 1937 figure has already reached $20,892.86, and will go higher by the end of next month.

Total for 1938 to date is $186,732.19; total for the corresponding period of 1937 is $165,839.33. Postal receipts for November this year were $320,000 more than November this year is $15,704.54, while the total for November, 1937, was $14,884.19.

Gain for the first two months of the fourth quarter—October and November—amounted to $5,060.40. Total for October-November this year was $38,523.73, while total for same period last year was $33,463.3.

Postmaster Harwood attributed the tremendous increase to the fact that Santa Ana is rapidly growing in every direction. The growth has necessitated the addition of about eight temporary substitute carriers to assist the regular carriers in making their deliveries.

Harwood said it is being contemplated to recommend to headquarters at Washington the addition of two additional routes to make possible the redistribution of service in both the north and south sides of Santa Ana.

Postal officials are now making plans to handle the biggest Christmas traffic in history. Harwood said all selections for additional Christmas help have already been made.

TURKESTAN TO BE TALK TOPIC

Life in Turkestan will be described by Cimarron Hathaway, author and adventurer, when he speaks at Bowers Memorial museum Sunday at 3 p. m., it was announced today by Mrs. F. E. Coulter, curator.

Hathaway, who is 24 years old, has recently published another book "The Seven Questions of Timur." In 1935 Hathaway came into possession of a map purporting to tell the route of a caravan which left Turkestan for Cathay, now China, in the fourteenth century, but which never reached its destination. The young author himself organized a caravan and made the trip across the highest caravan trail in the world, 19,000 feet.

Mrs. Coulter announced that because of the limited seating capacity of the museum's lecture hall, anyone planning to attend should come early. The public is invited.

NEW YORK. (P)—A sobbing plea for mercy by Yasha Katzenberg, 50, head of a $10,000,000 international narcotics smuggling ring, was denied in federal court today as Judge Henry W. Goddard sentenced him to 10 years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

Katzenberg pleaded guilty to a series of indictments accusing him of smuggling narcotics, bribing customs guards and violation of the tariff laws.

Katzenberg was arrested in Greece.

14 Years After Marriage, Man Finds it Wasn't Legal, Asks Court for Action Here

Silvestre Cardona of Wilmington was very much embarrassed today.

He's been married for 14 years and he's just found out that, my mistake, it isn't official.

Cardona filed a petition in superior court asking a decree declaring his marriage in Santa Ana

Oct. 12, 1924, a legal one. The ceremony in which he married Rita Sanchez, was performed by the Rev. T. Sanchez, a Catholic priest, he alleged, but the certificate of marriage never was recorded. Hearing on his application was set for Dec. 10 before Superior Judge K. K. Scovel.

AIRCRAFT WORKER ACCUSED OF TRYING TO SELL U. S. SECRET

LOS ANGELES. (P)—The dreaded accusation—spy!—was leveled today at 21-year-old Karl Allen Drummond, aircraft worker, for what federal agents charged was a tawdry attempt to betray his country's military secrets to Japan for $2000.

Arrested as the climax to a secret inquiry by the naval intelligence and G-men begun six months ago, the blond, blue-eyed square-jawed youth was clapped into jail last night on an espionage charge with his arraignment set for today.

An indictment by the federal grand jury alleged that young Drummond stole 150 photographs and 15 blueprints of a new naval airplane from the Northrop plant and tried to peddle these, together with confidential construction papers, to Japanese officials.

The indictment was returned last May, a year after the youth was hired in the advertising department of Northrop, a division of Douglas Aircraft Corp.

In turn, a Japanese government dignitary, a member of a Japanese home-buying commission, and a Los Angeles Japanese attorney, were approached, but suspiciously turned down the overtures.

CONSTRUCTION IN NOVEMBER SWELLS TOTAL

With December remaining, valuation of construction in Santa Ana today has surpassed the 1937 total by more than $10,000.

November building activity in the city brought the total for this year to date to $1,234,913. Total for the entire 12 months of last year was $1,224,631; total for the first 11 months last year was $1,153,732.

Such was the encouraging report made today by Building Inspector H. O. Rasmussen.

Total for November was $132,395, which is more than double the total for November, 1937, which was $55,944, according to Rasmussen's report.

November also exceeded the previous month of October when building permits valued at $123,735 were issued by the inspector's office.

September has been the best month of 1938, with $157,447 worth of construction on record for that month.

November figure included, among other items, 17 new residences, which accounted for $65,550 of the total figure.

SURRENDER OF CZECHS TO BE LECTURE TOPIC

John S. Moore, leader of public forums in Ohio, Minnesota, Colorado and New Mexico, will appear in Santa Ana tomorrow evening when he conducts the first of three discussions at the adult civic education forum at the high school.

Moore—who has been in Germany every summer except two since 1926—will speak tomorrow on "The Munich Conference and the Surrender of Czechoslovakia." The speaker has seen and heard Adolf Hitler and many of the other German leaders. Last summer he was received by the German foreign ministry.

Moore will be in Santa Ana for three Friday evenings. On Dec. 9 the subject will be "The Background of the German Revolution," for Dec. 16 a special Christmas program is being arranged.

These discussions were formerly held on Wednesday evening, but now will be held on Friday evenings at 7:30 p. m. at the Little Theatre at the high school.

Robbery Admitted, Probation Asked

Changing his former not guilty plea to a plea of guilty, Alexander Albrecht today was awaiting probation hearing Dec. 9 on a robbery charge.

Albrecht was before Superior Judge G. K. Scovel to change the plea to an admission that he took $25 from K. S. Michael September 29.

Look ahead a Year

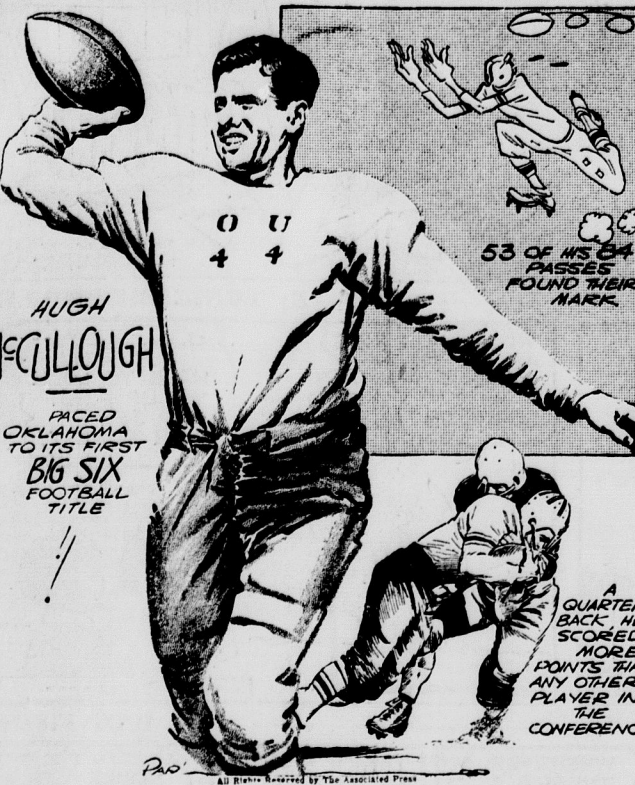

It's only a matter of fifty-odd weeks to NEXT Christmas. Is that too far to look ahead? Not if you want to give generously, without going into debt. Not if you want ready cash to meet heavy holiday expenses. Not if you are prudent and far-sighted like many other men and women who are starting their 1939 Christmas Club Accounts at this bank RIGHT NOW. Why not come in and open an account of your own.

SAINTS LAUNCH BASKETBALL SEASON AGAINST EXCELSIOR

Launching a basketball schedule that will carry them through February, Santa Ana High school's cagers travel to Norwalk for their first practice game of the season—against Excelsior High of the Sunset league tomorrow afternoon.

Coach Joe Koegler will have another comparatively small outfit for Citrus Belt league competition but he believes prospects are brighter than at this time last year. The Saints may make up in ball handling what they lack in height.

PROBABLE LINEUP

Against Excelsior, the Saints probably will employ a starting lineup of Dick O'Neil and Gene O'Campo at forward, Bob Frias at center, Maurice Young and Bill Hull at guard.

A second combination will consist of Soren Sorenson and Bill Brown at forward, Amelio Mercurio at center, Ross Barnes and Bob Wright at guard. These reserve forces probably will be kept intact to work as a combination all season, Koegler said.

Dick Brown, one of the tallest boys on the squad, will alternate with Frias at center. Mid-term graduation will remove O'Campo from the varsity, which means that Frias will be shifted back to forward at that time.

Other varsity prospects are Milton Mitchell, center; Bob Allen, forward; and Jim McCain.

Selection of Duke for Bowl Is Defended

BLUE DEVILS RILED OVER CRITICISM

DURHAM, N. C. (AP)—The coast to coast broadcast of criticism and sarcasm over Duke University selection as the Eastern representative in the Rose Bowl game against Southern California provoked rebuttal today of defending Carolina sports writers.

Shortly after the announcement of the selection Monday night, Pacific coast sports writers kicked off that the sentiment there had favored Texas Christian for the invitation.

Today the writers on the more turbulent Atlantic side, amid a few punt returns, off-tackle slants and slams bordering on unnecessary roughness, retaliated with a drive of words that apparently closed the first quarter in a scoreless tie.

A spokesman for the Duke Chronicle, underground publication, surveyed campus sentiment and came up with the finding: "Consensus of Duke campus opinion is that West Coast sports writers are entitled to their opinions."

Replying to California writers who implied Duke's offense was no great shakes, Edward V. Mitchell wrote in the Durham Herald that "One thing is certain, the Southern California football team surely is no world-beater. It has been beaten twice this season, and in one of those games by a second-rate Southeastern conference aggregation, University of Alabama. . . . A team that goes through nine contests, such as those Duke played, and isn't beaten, tied or scored upon must have something."

Nady Cates suggested in the Winston-Salem Journal that "if California's John Q. Public wants to see Texas Christian, the Sugar Bowl promoters will be only too happy to sell them tickets."

Writing in the Asheville Citizen, Paul Jones defended the caliber of the Duke schedule. "The Dukes completed a perfect campaign—a season that sent them against five Southern conference rivals, one Southeastern conference foe and three powers from the East."

"I think," wrote Laurence Leonard in the Greensboro Daily News, "that the statement of one Coast writer that 'The Trojans can sell out the Rose Bowl by playing Wellesley or Smith college for women' and a game with a great deal tougher' will only stir the Blue Devils up and cause them to score two more touchdowns."

Football Survey Reveals Swing Toward Offense, With 212 Teams Scoring Average of 114 Points for the Season

NEW YORK. (AP)—A decided swing toward the offense was revealed today by the Associated Press' 17th annual survey of nationwide football scoring records.

Thanks mostly to liberalized forward passing rules, the 212 teams included in the 1938 survey compiled the highest scoring average, per game, since 1931.

These teams scored an average of 114.36 points for the season while the 1792 games they played produced an average of 13.53 points. These figures compared with last year's averages of 107.19 points per season and 12.36 points per game.

The rise in scoring unquestionably could be attributed mainly to the 1938 rules change which made only fourth-down passes into the end zone touchbacks. This liberalized regulation naturally stimulated more passing in scoring territory.

Also helpful to the offense was the rule change which provided that a ball going out of bounds between the goal lines should be brought in 15 yards instead of 10. This, of course, gave the attacking side more scope.

One of the most striking developments of the season was the sharp decrease in ties, the game's chief bug-bear. The 212 teams included in the compilation figured in only 56 ties, 22 of them scoreless, compared with the 1937 and 1936 records of 134 and 100, respectively.

Although it showed a drop from 1937's dizzy height, the Southwest once more led all sections in scoring averages with 15.58 points per game with the Middle West a close second at 15.17. The Southwest a year ago hit an average level of 16.68 points per game and the Middle West 12.47.

Of the sections, only the Rocky mountain group showed a decrease but there the drop was terrific—8.77 points per game as against 12.61 a year ago. Adverse weather conditions were held chiefly responsible.

In the Far West, 17 teams played in 146 games for a total of 1895 points. This was a team average of 67.25 points and a game average of 8.77 points.

Individual leadership on the offense went to San Jose (Calif.) State, whose unbeaten array rolled up 310 points. Panzer college of New Jersey and the University of Indiana ran a close race for "cellar honors" in this respect with 20 and 21 points, respectively.

On defense, Duke's unbeaten Blue Devils stood all alone with an uncrossed goal line, although Mansfield (Pa.) Teachers had only a safety charged against them.

The weakest defense was offered by Ohio Wesleyan, which permitted the opposition 282 points.

Georgia Tech, the University of Pennsylvania and Virginia Military Institute shared the leadership in drawn games, each playing three. V. M. I. with its great rival, Virginia Tech, was credited with one of the oddest of all football stalemates, a 2-2 draw on Thanksgiving day. Another strange drawn battle was the 26-26 deadlock played by Temple and Boston College.

In the 17-year history of the survey, the season of 1922 ranks a top from a scoring standpoint. Eighty-three teams in that year averaged 133 points per season and 19 points per game. The low was reached in 1934 when 154 teams scored an average of 104.2 points per season and 12.19 per game.

POMONA HIGH INELIGIBLE

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Ineligibility of a player has eliminated the Pomona high school football team of the Citrus Belt league from tomorrow's semi-finals in the California interscholastic federation playoffs, C. I. F. officials announced today.

Covina high, which lost to Pomona last week, will meet Alhambra high. Jordan high of Long Beach plays Santa Barbara high in the other semi-final game.

Ralph Ring, star tackle on the Pomona team, was declared to have violated a C. I. F. rule by appearing in an amateur boxing bout at Ontario last summer.

Five years ago—Beattie Feathers, Tennessee's brilliant halfback, led all other players in balloting for all-Southern Conference eleven selected by the Associated Press.

JIMMIE LOTT FACES ORTH ON S. A. MAT

With a team match as the outstanding attraction on tonight's wrestling card at the Orange County Athletic club "Tarzan" Paul Orth, the man nobody loves, meets Jimmie Lott, the people's choice, in the three-fall, finish main event. The show opens at 8:30 o'clock.

Orth, one of the roughest matmen in the state, is being picked by fans to lose the main event to Lott who prefers to wrestle clean but, if forced to, can out rough the roughest of them.

In the team wrestling match, another three-fall finish affair, Charlie Carr and Jackie Nichols will wrestle Klem Kusek and "Tiger" Tsakoff. Popular opinion probably will be with Carr and Nichols in this match as Kusek and Tsakoff are almost as much disliked as Orth because of their rough tactics in the ring.

Nick Bozinas, former six-day bicycle racer from New York, will wrestle in the one full 30-minute time limit "curtain raiser."

FULLERTON'S TILT BRINGS MOST PROFIT

Official football receipts, announced today by Director D. K. Hammond, showed Santa Ana Junior college realized $6430.46 as its share of 11 practice and conference games during the past season.

The total fell considerably short of the $9365.34 netted by the Dons during their championship '37 season. Nevertheless, the $6430.46 is considerably higher than receipts realized by most junior colleges, indicating Santa Ana still remains one of the best football towns in the Southland.

The San Bernardino game here grossed $1933.04 with each college receiving $873.17 and the city of Santa Ana receiving $193.90 for rental of the Municipal bowl. This was the second highest profit for the Dons, who received $833.40 as their share in the annual Thanksgiving day game at Fullerton.

Santa Ana's six home games grossed $8924.36. Of this amount, the Dons received $4105.93, the visiting teams $2350.02, and the city council (for Municipal bowl rental), $1044.25.

Gross receipts for the home games: Santa Monica, $784.67; Los Angeles City College, $1316.25; U. C. L. A. Frosh, $1188.35; Pomona, $1562.47; San Bernardino, $1933.04; and Chaffey, $1239.55.

Visitors' share of Santa Ana's home games: Santa Monica, Los Angeles City College and U. C. L. A. Frosh, each $250 as flat guarantee; Pomona, $669.05; San Bernardino, $873.17; Chaffey, $557.80.

The city's share for Municipal bowl rental: Santa Monica, $1177.70; Los Angeles City College, $197.43; U. C. L. A. Frosh, $178.25; A. Frosh, each $250 as flat guarantee; San Bernardino, $193.90, and Chaffey, $123.20.

For out-of-town games, Santa Ana received the following amounts: Pasadena, $427.72; Citrus, $168.28; Riverside, $295.23; San Mateo, $500 (guarantee); and Fullerton, $933.40.

Nominations Close Today for Santa Anita Handicap

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—With most of the nation's top ranking thoroughbreds in the list, nominations for the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap officially close at midnight tonight.

Santa Anita officials were reluctant to disclose the names of entries already in, preferring to give the complete roll a big play when it is made public next week. It was certain, however, that Stagehand, 1938 winner of the big race, Seabiscuit, runner-up for two years and doubtless the outstanding stake champion today, and many other headlines were named.

pany five, 39-23, to put Al's in second place with Treesweet. The Famous Department store will play Elitiste in International Trucks in the only game scheduled for tonight.

The Treesweet outfit held a slight lead at half time, 14-10, but the pace of Forward Sears who scored 10 points paved the way for Irvine's win.

With last night's victory, Irvine outfit is almost assured of taking the first round. Next Monday night Irvine meets Southern Counties Gas company team which has only scored one victory this season. The following Monday, Seal's Sporting Goods five will be the opponent.

"PORTUGEE" PHILLIPS' RIDE
Combating almost insurmountable hardships, John "Portugee" Phillips, Wyoming frontiersman, saved old Fort Phil Kearny from complete destruction by Sioux Indians under Chief Red Cloud during the bitter winter of 1886.

One of a line of soldiers on the Bozeman Road to the West, Fort Phil Kearny was in command of Col. Henry B. Carrington. On Dec. 21, a wood train from the fort was attacked by the Sioux and cut off from retreat. Brevet Lt.-Col. William Judd Fetterman, with 80 men, set out to relieve the train.

The 81 men walked into an Indian trap, and to the last man they were killed. Col. Carrington, realizing he was outnumbered, ordered the Fetterman massacre. SAW AS his only hope reinforcements from Fort Laramie, 236 miles distant.

All that night Phillips rode on and near midnight of Christmas Eve he rode into Fort Laramie frozen and exhausted. Phillips' ride brought relief to Fort Phil Kearny by January, 1887, before the Sioux could finish their attack, and the crisis passed.

The New Governor's Chance

It is with a shock we learn that $60,000,000 of additional taxes will have to be levied if California's state budget is to be balanced in the next biennium.

Not so many years ago the entire biennial expenditure of the state did not exceed that sum. Now it is talked of as a mere addition to the total, which, with federal aid included, will run close to half a billion dollars for the forthcoming two-year period under Governor Olson.

The appalling fact is that out of this gigantic total governor and legislature have actual control over only a small fraction. The bulk of the state's income is allocated by the constitution to specific purposes which cannot be changed except by changing the constitution. That cannot be done except by vote of the people, and the people will not willingly reduce benefits which the appropriations give them.

Within the comparatively small range over which the governor and legislature have direct control there must be a meeting of minds between the executive and legislative branches of government in order to make budgetary reductions, almost an equally difficult procedure.

But it must be borne in mind that Mr. Olson will have perhaps a better chance to reduce the controllable budget than any of his predecessors for many years. Because he is the first Democratic governor since 1895 he could, if he so desired, make that a pretext for a general housecleaning. We say pretext. Actually most state jobs are supposed to be non-partisan in California. But the fact that Republicans have been so long in the saddle suggests the possibility of subjecting every job and every service to the acid test of necessity and, where civil service will permit, eliminating all those that are not essential.

We suppose the actual number that could be abolished is small. But we should like to see Mr. Olson do his best to break through the powerful resistance officeholders always put up against reduction of expenses of their departments.

Politically he owes no one now in office any favors. He is in position to exact promises of economy from everyone he appoints.

In short, he has before him a grand opportunity to go the limit, so far as lies within his power, to make impressive reductions in state expenditures. And, if we judge the temper of the people aright, we believe the legislature will back him up in the attempt.

The re-enactment of Steve Brodie's jump from Brooklyn bridge sounds rather flat. Couldn't he get somebody to jump over it?

Shoddy Ethics Hurt

When business enters the door, scruples too often fly out the window. That's the indictment Nina Wilcox Putnam levels against business relations in the current Rotarian Magazine. Drawing upon her own experience in commercial transactions, the widely known author, in presenting the woman's point of view, outlines a set of simple, practical rules for improving business relations. Here they are:

"First, be sure you know what you want before you enter into any business transaction. Think the matter through clearly, and refuse to compromise on cheap substitutes, either material or ethical.

"Never allow yourself to be rushed into a hasty decision either by over-enthusiasm or by false pride. One of the most frequent causes of business failure is our natural unwillingness to admit to the other fellow that we may not be able to 'put it over'.

"Never buy anything you can't pay for. Don't take a chance on something turning up later to cover your indebtedness. That sounds like putting the brakes on a lot of creative enterprise, but genuinely creative enterprise is never a gamble. Be sure you give what you are being paid for. All business growth, be it in the selling of apples or in the selling of ideas, is built on repeats.

"Never use your personal affairs as an alibi for non-performance. The purchaser is interested in the goods he gets, not in your private problem.

"Never be 'smart alecky' or affected in your manner when a business deal is involved. Your approach will be anything but welcome. A direct, simple, and natural manner is your best introduction to any client or prospect.

"Never try to get something for nothing. The effort, always futile, is spotted immediately and brands you indelibly as a fake. People don't forget that sort of thing and they are not reluctant to spread the news.

"Never, never lose your temper no matter how wholly wrong your business contact of the moment may be. By losing your temper you put yourself at a disadvantage. Many a deal has been consummated satisfactorily to all parties because one of them kept cool.

"Don't waste your own vital energy by brooding over a bad business deal or a business injustice. Forget it and go ahead with something new.

"Always fulfill your contracts on time, or a little before time if possible. The upstage gesture of delay is an empty one, no matter how important you are. He who can be depended upon is the one who gets results.

"The successes of dishonesty and charlatanism are usually brief, believe it or not—just like the success of crime in a lesser degree. 'Getting away with it' is not business success; it is slack-wire performance on a rusted wire.

"Above all, assume that the other fellow is at least as decent and honest as you are. Distrust engenders distrust. Faith often begets faith in the most surprising degree."

Nation's Capitol

By RAYMOND CLAPPER

WASHINGTON. — (Special)—Republicans have some important policy problems to discuss in connection with their national committee meeting here this week which brings together most of the active party leaders.

First of all republicans are divided as to how progressive their party shall be—whether it shall pick up the torch of Theodore Roosevelt, so to speak, or go back to Taft and McKinley; whether it shall try to compete with the humanitarian program of Roosevelt or carry on the fight which the Liberty league abandoned after its crushing defeat in 1936.

Chief representative of the progressive wing will be the new New York national committeeman, Kenneth Simpson, an aggressive, forthright, adventuresome red-head, who in his own way doesn't care much more for precedents than Franklin Roosevelt. Simpson is the man behind Dewey and Bruce Barton, and the man who made some trades with LaGuardia and the American Labor party in New York in order to advance the interests of the republican party.

HE GETS AROUND
Die-hard republican reactionaries have been shocked that Simpson should try to do business with anybody who was not on the good books of the Liberty league promoters, and they have not only withheld contributions from him, but some of them are demanding a good deal. He has discovered that the world has moved, and he thinks it only appropriate that the republican party also move.

Following that line, he almost elected Dewey as governor of New York, losing by some 60,000 out of almost five million votes, against the strongest candidate the democrats had.

But he lost and that prevents him from holding the dominant position in the party which he would have taken had he elected Dewey. As it is he still has some chips in the game, but as he looks around the table he sees several large rivals, well-heeled with blue chips.

READY TO FIGHT
He is a Pennsylvania republican who swept their state earlier this month, and with a second-rate reactionary candidate, Arthur James. These Pennsylvania republicans, with a large squad of fat cats such as Joseph Pew (oil), Ernest Weir (steel), Joe Grundy (big business lobbyist) and Jay Cooke (capitalist) think the way to beat the New Deal is to fight it, and they are set to wipe it off the face of the map. When Simpson ties to tell them the party can't get anywhere on that line, they simply point to the election returns and show him that they elected their governor and he didn't elect his.

This group will hold the second largest block of delegates in the republican nominating convention. Close by are the Ohio and Michigan conservative republicans who won back their states.

There are a number of progressive young republicans ready to join Simpson—such as Governor-Elect Stassen of Minnesota and Governor-Elect Payne of Kansas—the conservative republicans have the edge. Furthermore, a national committee headquarters is sympathetic to their attitude as to what the party policy should be. So on the whole the controlling pressure within the party is more likely to be conservative than otherwise.

TAFT BANDWAGON
The young Turks will have to gain many recruits fast to come out on top. Conservatives are likely to begin swinging behind Robert Taft, senator-elect from Ohio, as their prospective candidate.

Another question confronting the republicans relates to tactics in the coming session of congress. All eyes will be on the republicans this winter. They have the alternative of striking out on their own, or of keeping their heads down and working under cover with anti-Roosevelt democrats.

During the last two years they have followed the latter policy with remarkable success. That was the way the supreme court and the reorganization bills were beaten. Republicans prodded conservative democrats, but carefully avoided taking the open initiative. They can continue that coalition policy, but while it has the advantage of getting results, it also has the disadvantage of making it difficult for the party to establish a record before the country.

It permits the conservative democrats to take credit for stopping Roosevelt and reduces the republicans to a scarcely audible echo. On the other hand, if the republicans step out with a savage, down the line attack on the administration, they seize the headlines, but that policy also tends to drive the democrats back toward the administration. A conservative southern democrat still would rather be called a Roosevelt man than a republican.

Studies in the colloidal chemistry producing color changes in the flowers and leaves of plants, at Cornell University, are leading scientists to suspect that it may be possible some day to create a blue rose.

Integrating is the study of the color changes in the late autumn red leaves and the colors of red and blue flowers. These color pigments are known chemically as anthocyanin pigments. Over their origin chemists have had many a controversy.

In a report to the Journal of the American Chemical society, Prof. Wilder D. Bancroft and John E. Rutzler, Jr., of Cornell point out that the anthocyanins vary in color from red or purple through blue and green to yellow. The specific shade in any particular plant appears to depend on the acidity of the sap in the plant.

The development of anthocyanine appears to be due to plant enzymes. If you could inactivate the enzymes without killing the leaves it would be possible to prevent the development of red in leaves. Or, in contrast, if the Norway maple could get the proper enzyme its leaves would turn red in particular cases.

Expose a red flower to ammonia vapor, state the scientists, and the blue in the flower is apt not to be permanent in the absence of a stabilizer. If it changes fairly rapidly to yellow one gets no blue but only green. If it changes very rapidly to yellow one gets neither blue nor green. The leaves of a poinsettia are a case of this.

It seems probable, the scientists add, that all blue flowers contain a color-stabilizer. Sodium chloride, sodium nitrate, and aluminum solutions are reported to stabilize the blue in particular cases.

The Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON. — The conference President Roosevelt will hold with congressional leaders at Warm Springs has a far more weighty purpose than the announced one of discussing legislative plans.

What Roosevelt really is after is to find out just how far the house leaders will go in supporting him at the coming session. He wants to know whether Speaker Bankhead and Floor Leader Stephen Rayburn are on his side or on the side of Vice President Jack Garner and the anti-New Deal wing of the democratic party.

The president has deep suspicions that the two southerners, never ardent New Dealers, have reverted to type as a result of the election upset and are now back in the Garmer camp. To test their mettle he will use the government reorganization bill that was trounced last congress.

Prior to Nov. 8, Roosevelt had intended to offer the measure in the new congress. The republican sweep wrote him to that plan, but he hasn't admitted it publicly. As far as the congressional leaders know he is still bent on putting over the bill. When they sit down with him at Warm Springs, he will propose reviving the fight and see what they do about it.

To his intimates the president has expressed belief that the leaders will run from the bill as from a plague. But by threatening to force a showdown in congress, he hopes to wangle a trade on certain other things he is after.

Chief among these is a guarantee from Bankhead and Rayburn that the democratic vacancies on the all-important rules committee will be filled with trustworthy administration supporters.

The only sure White House backer now on the committee is Rep. Adolph Sabath of Chicago, slated for chairman in place of the purged John O'Connor. The other two democrats, Eugene Cox of Georgia and Martin Dies of Texas, are bitter anti-New Dealers. In combination with the minority republicans they control the committee.

SHREWD POLITICIAN
Maybe it was typical Canadian democracy, or merely that feeling of gratitude of those who know they are about to receive favors, but Prime Minister Mackenzie King shook hands with everyone in sight when he arrived in Washington to sign a renewal of the reciprocal trade agreement. State department officials, newspaper men, even railroad men were warmly greeted by Canada's premier.

When he reached the little group of cameramen who were waiting to snap him, an attack of the Canadian legation stepped up and said in a stage whisper, "They're just photographers. Your Excellency."

"Good!" replied Mackenzie King heartily, "I'm especially glad to see you gentlemen," and proceeded to shake hands warmly with each of the grinning lensmen.

WANTS EMBARGO

To the Editor: Are the latest Nazi outrages to be allowed to rest? We have vented our feelings, but we have failed to unite in the one effective measure—embargo on trade with Nazi Germany. Is another Fascist victory to become history, and the horror draw closer to us?

Hitler's courtier, Chamberlain, offers a solution quite as accommodating to Hitler as the Munich pact, no matter how loudly the Nazi press may howl against the scheme to cover up the fact. This scheme, seconded meekly by our own ambassador, Kennedy, would likewise stop the continued sale of war materials to a potential enemy against which we are told we must now feverishly arm, certainly a cheaper, more humane and effective measure than new battleships and bombing planes!—RUTH E. K.

American Jews should refuse to support a plan which, like the Munich pact, would reward rather than punish the banditry of the Nazi regime. We all should join them in insisting that our government take the only measure which will stop the outrages—strike the Nazis in their most vulnerable spot, their pocketbook. It would likewise stop the continued sale of war materials to a potential enemy against which we are told we must now feverishly arm, certainly a cheaper, more humane and effective measure than new battleships and bombing planes!—RUTH E. Male Held Weaker Sex

By DR. FRANK THORNE

Science Writer
Weaker sex? That wily epithet, long bestowed by the lordly male upon his meek and submissive mate, now snaps back into his own face. And a male scientist is responsible, too: Prof. F. A. E. Crew, of the University of Edinburgh.

"The male in man is inherently the weaker sex," declares Prof. Crew in the British weekly journal, Nature, "more prone on account of his relative constitutional weakness to developmental anomalies, to congenital debility and to death from diseases of all kinds."

The Edinburgh biologist, in issuing this pronouncement, is indulging in no snap judgment. In his article he sets forth an array of facts most embarrassing to male notions of superiority—if any such still survive.

More boy babies than girls are born, as is fairly well known. British vital statistics show 105 male births to 100 female. But immediately the boys start dying off faster than the girls, until the ratio between the sexes in the 15-to-19 age bracket is evenly balanced. Thereafter there are more women than men, until in extreme old age, from 85 years on, there are twice as many survivors; females as there are males.

Prof. Crew has sought hereditary causes for this state of affairs. He has three suggestions: There may be lethal genes riding on the male sex chromosome. This chromosome is absent in women, so the lethals would also be lacking. However, Prof. Crew thinks this factor plays relatively little part.

Tendencies to certain defects may be carried by the genes of both sexes, but because of physiological differences they may be expressed only in males. Color-blindness, and the hemophilia or "bleeding" that afflicted the unfortunate older son of Alfonso XIII are examples.

Finally, physiological peculiarities connected with the primary or secondary sex glands may load the dice of death against males. Prof. Crew specifies that while the weakness of the male is fact, his suggested explanations are only speculation and he calls for criticism and experimentation to test them. Philosophy

Today I'm going to take you behind the counter and show you how one girl made a sale when, seemingly, no sale could be made. This is an experience of Miss Ruth Polster who lives at 1023 South Miami avenue, Miami, Fla.

"One day," said Miss Polster, "a woman entered my department in an unpleasant mood. Her face bore no smile, and she seemed at odds with the world. She approached a rack of little girls' dresses headed by a sign $3.98 to $6.98 and made a comment to this effect: 'Cheap junk.'"

"At this point I approached her and though I heard her comment distinctly—and resented it—I refrained from retort. Instead, I smiled, greeted her, and said: 'Did you inquire about something?'

She acidly repeated her comment.

"Ordinarily I should have defended our merchandise, knowing it to be lovely; but on this occasion I said by way of sympathizing, 'Isn't it too bad that more pains are not taken in the making of clothes these days; however, Madam, you will notice that these dresses have unusually nice details.' Turning the dress inside out, I showed her the large hem, lovely seams, good workmanship, and other details which were undeniably in evidence. I managed to add that our merchandise came from the most reliable sources and was far above the average in quality and style.

"I tried to be tactful and agreeable, and especially kind and tolerant. There was considerable more discussion, but success finally manifested itself in the form of a smile.

"To my joy and satisfaction, she questioned me as to the probable size of a 7-year-old who was a little below average in height, but plump, would need. I assisted her to the best of my ability, showing her two other dresses aside from the one we were discussing. She chose the first.

"I suggested a slip, panties, socks all of which she included. She said she had never had such an understanding salesperson (a word for which I am especially grateful) and would be back for more clothes if these proved to be the right size.

"She has since been in to tell me how successful her purchase was.

"So, by being a bit humble," says Miss Polster, "yet confident in my knowledge, I won a victory over myself and made a sale."

In Fort Tryon park, New York, the other day, I saw a sign which reads:

"Let no one say, and say it to your shame."

All was beauty here until you came."

How much more appealing than the usual harsh line: "Breaking of shrubbery forbidden."

A trifle severe, but to the point without a threat, is a sign on a bathhouse in Marshall, Texas:

"Gentlemen will not smoke; others are requested not to."

These bring to mind another sign I saw out in Hollywood. Near Mary Pickford's entrance gate—which was wide open—a kindly sign, indicative of the personality of the little woman who placed it there:

"This is the end of the road." (Copyright, 1938)

I'LL TELL YOU ----

BY BOB BURNS

Some narrow minded people seem to resent the fact that moving picture stars use doubles when there is dangerous action in the picture. I think doubles deserve a lot of credit, but I don't think we should feel sorry for them because they actually like their work and they appreciate a star throwing work their way.

One day a big apartment house here in Hollywood caught fire and a famous actress came out of her window and stood on the ledge of the seventh floor with flames lickin' all around her. The firemen stood below her with the net spread, but she didn't move. Finally they hollered, "Jump, lady, jump!" The actress looked down at 'em indignantly and said, "I'll do nothin' of the kind! Send for my double at once!"
